Insurance Law

US Liability Ins. v. Benchmark Construction Service, No. 14-1832

In a declaratory judgment action involving the scope of an employer's liability exclusion in a dispute over the insurer's duty to defend and indemnify insured in an underlying personal injury action, the district court's conclusion that insurer had no duty to defend or indemnify is reversed where, given the ambiguities in the exclusion, they must be construed in the insured's favor.

Criminal Law & Procedure, Sentencing

US v. Diaz-Arroyo, No. 14-1929

Sentence for guilty plea to being a felon in possession of a firearm, 18 U.S.C. sections 922(g)(1) and 924(a)(2), is affirmed over claims that the sentence is substantively unreasonable, but remanded for the limited purpose of correcting the judgment to clarify the challenged supervised release condition.
